K. P. National Gathering.

The National Biennial Gathering of the Knights of Pythias, which is to be held in San Francisco, August 10th to 20th, is probably destined to become memorable as the greatest fraternal gathering in the history of this country, in point of numbers as well as in splendor. The people of San Francisco and of California are determined that it shall eclipse all similar convention ever held in the United States. Never before was there such unanimity of action among all the people of the coast. It is not the members of the order alone who take such lively interest in the coming gathering of the hosts, but merchants, manufacturers, farmers and miners, all are interested to make the affair a glorious one for California and the most pleasant for the visitors. Carloads of choice fruit will be sent each day from different sections for free distribution. Congress has authorized the Secretary of War to issue 1,000 small tents for the encampment, and as many more as may be necessary. The railroads have agreed to a very low rate of transportation.

It is now generally known and understood that Drunkenness is a disease and not weakness. Sufferers may now cure themselves at home without publicity or loss of time from business by this wonderful "HOME GOLD CURE" which has been perfected after many years of close study and treatment of inebriates. MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Paul Leicester Ford, the Novelist, Killed By His Brother.

Paul Was the Author of "The Honorable Peter Stirling," "Janice Meredith," "The Great K. and A. Train Robbery," Etc.

New York, May 9.—Paul Leicester Ford, the novelist, was shot and killed Thursday by his brother, Malcolm Webster Ford, writer and athlete, who immediately sent a bullet into his own breast, dying instantly. The shooting occurred in the handsome new mansion which Paul Leicester Ford had built at 37 East 77th street, and had occupied for about a year.

At the time of the shooting there were in the house besides the two brothers, Mrs. Paul Leicester Ford, Miss Elizabeth R. Hall, the novelist's secretary, and the servants. The novelist was sitting at his desk in one corner of his library, a large, attractively appearing room at the back of the house on the second floor. It is supposed he was busily engaged at some literary task. Miss Hall was at her desk in another corner of the room, about 30 feet from Mr. Ford. Mrs. Paul Leicester Ford was in her own room at the front of the house on the third floor.

Malcolm Ford called, as he had often done, and went to his brother at his desk. Words were exchanged in a tone so low that Miss Hall could not hear what was said, though she says that she possibly might have distinguished the words if she had been paying any attention to this particular meeting of the brothers. Suddenly there was a revolver shot and Miss Hall, jumping up, darted from the room. Then, according to the statements of the police, Miss Hall said to herself that she must act more bravely and re-enter the library.

Meanwhile Malcolm Ford had called her. As she turned towards him, he placed his revolver to his heart, fired and fell, dying instantly. When Miss Hall turned to look at Paul, he was still standing at his desk, but rapidly losing strength. She helped him to a sofa and then ran next door for Mr. Paul Ford's physician. In less than five minutes Dr. Baruch arrived, and the dying man, still conscious, was carried up to a room beside his wife's and placed on his bed.

Police Capt. Brown said Thursday night that Malcolm Ford had for some time been causing much uneasiness to the family through evidences of an unbalanced mind, and declares that in his opinion he attacked his brother during a period of temporary insanity, then taking his own life.

"The cause of Malcolm Ford's action," said Capt. Brown, "can be explained by inference. For some time his financial affairs have been pressing him and he has repeatedly asked and received material assistance from his brother. It is presumed that his importuning had been such and his demand so excessive that his brother had been forced to refuse further aid."

Paul Leicester Ford was 37 years old, a novelist of much note. "Janice Meredith" being his most popular novel. He was married about a year ago to Miss Grace Kidder, daughter of Edward H. Kidder, of Brooklyn. He was the son of Gordon Lester Ford, of Brooklyn, who died 11 years ago, and left an estate of some $2,000,000, divided between his children, with the exception of Malcolm W., who was disinherited by the will.

Mr. Ford is the author of "The Honorable Peter Stirling," "The Great K. and A. Train Robbery," "The True George Washington," "The Many Sided Franklin," (which ran serially in the Century), "Tattle Tales of Cupid," "Janice Meredith," which ran serially in the Bookman, 1899, and a collection of short stories. He also edited the writings of Thomas Jefferson in ten volumes, the writings of John Dickinson in three volumes, and numerous other works relating to American history and bibliography.

MRS. DENISON ELECTED.

She is the New President of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 9.—Mrs. Dimities T. S. Denison is elected president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs by a ballot vote of 667 to 258 for Mrs. Sarah Platt-Decker. Mrs. Denison was received with applause and waving of handkerchiefs and after a little speech of acceptance was presented with a huge floral basket of carnations.

Not Sufficient Evidence.

Eau Claire, Wis., May 9.—W. H. Hamilton, national organizer of the Brotherhood of Paper-makers, who was arrested on a charge of conspiracy against the Dells Paper and Pulp Co., was discharged Thursday. Judge Gilberton held that there was not sufficient evidence to hold Hamilton.

Weavers' Wages Increased.

THE STRIKE ORDERED.

Anti-Lite Miners Will Close Work Monday Morning.

Scranton, Pa., May 10.—A general strike of the miners of the anthracite region has been ordered for Monday next, but the order has a reserve qualification attached. The question as to whether the strike is to be made permanent is left to the decision of a convention of delegates of all the local organizations of the mine workers to be held at Hazleton next Wednesday.

The miners' executive committee of three districts met and had a three-hour session.

The instruction for all men to suspend work on Monday does not include firemen, engineers, pumpmen and other labor necessary to preserve the properties of the operators.

The order is signed by all the district presidents and secretaries. There was a big crowd about the St. Charles when the order was given out, and the proverbial dropping of a pin could have been audible at any time. President Mitchell, standing in the center of the crowd on a chair, read the statement.

Immediately upon the conclusion of President's Mitchell's reading the crowd scattered, and in an incredibly short space of time the news had spread by word of mouth and message all through the valley. A thousand varying comments might be heard from the miners as they learned of the committee's action. No one sentence could cover the general sentiment.

There is not a particle of question but that the miners will obey the order and on Monday next not so much as a shovelful of coal will be mined in the Lackawanna valley.

STATE ANTI-TRUST LAWS.

Ouster Proceedings Filed Against Several Packing Companies.

Jefferson City, Mo., May 10.—Attorney General Crow filed in the supreme court ouster proceedings against the Armour Packing Co., the Hammond Packing Co., the Cudahy Packing Co., Armour & Co., and the Krug Packing Co. for alleged violation of the state anti-trust laws. The companies are charged with combining to fix and maintain prices and to control the supply of dressed, cured and smoked meats and lard in Missouri. An alternative writ was issued, returnable May 30. The information alleges that Nelson-Morris & Co., of Kansas City, and Schwartzchild & Sulzburger, of Kansas City, are in the combination, but as they are co-partnerships it will require another kind of proceeding to reach them. This will be filed immediately by the attorney general.

OLYMPIAN GAMES.

Nicaragua Will Be Well Represented in the Contests.

Chicago, May 10.—The International Olympian Games Association has received official notice that the government of Nicaragua has taken official recognition of the games to be held in Chicago in 1904, and will send representatives to be present at the contests. The notification was addressed by Louis F. Corea, the minister of Nicaragua at Washington, to Volney W. Foster, commissioner general of the association to the Latin country.

This action is in harmony with the resolution adopted by the Pan-American congress at its recent session in Mexico urging upon the governments therein represented to support the coming games. The other governments of Central and South America, it is expected, will probably not be slow in following the example of Nicaragua.

LOOK OUT FOR HIM.

Unknown Man Swindling Newspaper Men Throughout the Country.

Washington, May 10.—Investigation has developed the fact that an unknown person has successfully swindled newspaper men throughout the country and especially in New York, Washington, Baltimore and Atlanta, by representing himself to be respectively Messrs. A. H. Crandry, R. E. Turner or Keville Glennan, of the Norfolk (Va.) Virginian-Pilot. The impostor visits a newspaper office and secures a loan, pleading temporary financial embarrassment. The management of the Virginia-Pilot suspects an ex-employee.

Imperial Edict.

Peking, May 10.—An imperial edict just issued confers a mandarin's button of the first class on the German bishop of South Shantung, Rev. Dr. Anzer, for services in maintaining peace between Chinese Christians and non-Christians.

Wants New Trial For Rathbone.

Washington, May 10.—Senator Hanna presented to the president a memorial in behalf of Estes G. Rathbone, urging him to grant a new trial and set aside the sentence imposed in Cuba on Rathbone for alleged maladministration in Cuban postal affairs.

Ambassador Meyer Goes to Turin.

Rome, May 10.—George Von L. Meyer, the United States ambassador to Italy, and Mrs. Meyer have gone to Turin to attend the opening of the exposition of modern arts at that place. Thence they will go on a long automobile tour of Northern Italy.

Christiana, May 10.—A number of American engineers have arrived here and have hired 2,000 laborers to build 18 miles of railroad to the Dundarlandan iron ore fields. The equipment is entirely American.

CUBA becomes her own mistress May 2nd.

The "mashers" have become so obstreperous at Bowling Green as to necessitate an extra police to guard the club doors after services.

Mr. BRYAN says there will be no difficulty about achieving harmony if the harmonizing is based on Democratic principles.

The workingman who voted two years ago for a "full dinner pail" will hardly be able to put much beef in it at the present high price.

An Illinois man who has never used tobacco or intoxicating liquors, and has been a Bible student all his life, is well preserved at 102. The good do not always die young, as this case attests.

Word comes from the Great Lake fisheries that never before were fish more abundant than this season, the big catches fairly straining the nets. Thus is there some compensation for the high price of meats.

The Twentieth Century edition of the Semi-Weekly Progress, published at Elkton, Ky., is on our exchange table. It is a handsome forty-page periodical and is a masterful piece of work typographically and otherwise.

SCIENTISTS say that there is 60 per cent. more nutriment in rice than in beef steak, and one pound of rice will go as far as five pounds of steak. Under such a state of case, what's the use in patronizing the meat trust?

A CHICAGO exchange remarks: "Now comes the wide-eyed Inter Ocean and propounds this conundrum: 'Is Republicanism a crime?' Giving the accused the benefit of the doubt, we should say that in Illinois it is simply a case of disorderly conduct."

It is reported that a South Carolina negro delivers excellent discourses while asleep, and his preaching is remarkably good. Sleeping preachers are somewhat of a novelty, but sleeping congregations are so numerous as to attract no attention.

For several years officers of the twenty-odd Lexington Investment Companies have been engaged in a mad-cap financial dance, and now that a grand jury has summoned half-hundred of them to step up to the captain's office and pay for the fiddling, that morning after, tired feeling is epidemic in the Bluegrass capital.—Times.

The Cynthiana Democrat, says: The "he" shirt waist has a companion this spring in the "she" neckcloth that winds around the jugular and falls in long, broad flaps over the manly bosom. A "he" shirt waist and a "she" neckcloth on a dandy in jeans trousers and muddy shoes is a combination just too cute for anything. You can meet it in Cynthiana.

Gov. DAVIS, of Arkansas, has pardoned a negro convicted for assault with intent to kill. The pardon is on condition the negro take up his residence in Massachusetts. The Governor says he is moved to this action by the expressions of sympathy for the "poor oppressed negro" which he heard in the North on a recent visit. Won't Gov. Beckham pardon some of the colored prisoners in the Kentucky pen, on the same conditions?

Never in recent years has public indignation been so aroused as it now has against the men who, through the failures of securities companies, are alleged to have robbed the citizens of Lexington and Fayette county of nearly $1,000,000. Expressions that bode no good to the alleged offenders are frequently heard, and the indications are they will soon begin their exodus. Thirty-seven indictments for embezzlement against the former officers and manipulators of the defunct investment companies have been returned by the grand jury. The cases will come up in June, and if the opinions of those strictly on the inside are to be credited there will follow convictions enough to satisfy the indignation of the people who have been robbed of their money.

The Louisville Times, says: We gave great chunks of sympathy to the soldier boys who had to eat embalmed beef during the war with Spain, and the revelations in the Beef Trust inquiry in Missouri furnish opportunity for us to sympathize with ourselves. One witness makes the shocking statement that "It (the meat) is in a decayed condition, has whiskers on it as we call it, and they are rubbed off. They then put a kind of paint on it and send it out in their own wagons and sell it to restaurants, hotels and even to private families." With packers feeding us horse meat, dairymen selling us chemically-treated milk and artificially-colored oleomargarine, millers adulterating flour with white clay, and practically every "pure food product" full of deleterious, if not poisonous substances, it requires ingenuitous faith to say grace before a taking.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. IT IS DIFFICULT.—It is indeed difficult to convince some people that they don't have to light up the kitchen range when they want to cook something very particular. Several million people still cling to the idea that a gas stove will only cook a few simple things. We want to say again, in the most emphatic manner, that a Gas Range will do more things to advantage, at one time, than your coal range will do, and do them better, by saving nothing of time and money saved.

The May Festival.

The Elks' May Music Festival, given at the Grand Opera House, in this city, on Friday evening last, was a great success, both financially and artistically. The audience was a representative one and each number on the program was loudly applauded and it was pronounced as being one of the very best musical entertainments ever given in this city. There is no city in the State, or anywhere for that matter, that possesses more genuine musical talent, for the size of the town, than Paris, and in the performance on Friday night, the pick and cream of our singers were in evidence.

The chorus was an unusually strong one, comprising fifty-three voices and the selections of music rendered was of the highest order and most classic. We refrain from making an individual mention of any special number, as one word will suffice in comment, and that is to say that it was "great."

However, we will say that the performance was given under the direction of Dr. Frank Fithian, who labored unceasingly to make it the success that it was.

Court House Architects.

The Committee of the Fiscal Court were busy all of yesterday looking over the plans that were being submitted by different architects for our new Court House building. Some of the plans, in fact all of them were very fine, and if the committee decide to accept any one of the many submitted, we will certainly have a fine building. There is a probability that the committee may decide on one of them to-day. The parties submitting plans were: L. L. Oberwarth, Frankfort, Ky.; Henry Walters, Louisville, Ky.; Mason Maury, Louisville, Ky.; Ditroe & Wisner, Cincinnati, Ohio; J. W. Gaddis, Vincennes, Ind.; L. L. Rowe, Lexington, Ky.; W. Chas. Irwin & Co., Birmingham, Ala.; W. S. Van Dusen, Louisville, Ky.; S. E. Hannaford & Sons, Cincinnati, O.; F. Norman, Atlanta, Ga.; F. P. Milburn, Columbia, S. C.; Desjardins & Haywood, Cincinnati, Ohio; J. M. Lewis, Lynchburg, Va.; J. R. Gierke, Ceredo, W. Va.

STATE GUARDS.—An effort is being made to organize a company of Kentucky State Guards in Falmouth.

BOB TAYLOR.—Gov. Bob Taylor, in his new lecture, "The Old Plantation," is meeting with great success. Why not the Daughters of the Confederacy secure him for a benefit? Enough tickets could be sold in advance to insure success.

CUPID'S ARROW.

Cupid was busy on Saturday morning last. It was one of those bright and balmy Spring days, a morning of poetry, so to speak. At the noon hour, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Lizzie Walker, Miss Francis K. Pullen was betrothed to Mr. Arthur W. Chapman, both of Chicago, the ceremony being performed by Elder J. S. Sweeney. The home of Mrs. Walker was beautifully decorated with flowers and plants and the happy pair, after the marriage ceremony, received the congratulations of their friends and invited guests who had assembled to wish them bon voyage on the sea of matrimony. After partaking of a wedding dinner Mr. and Mrs. Chapman left on the afternoon train for their home in Chicago.

Will Mark, of Mt. Sterling, and Miss Eva Gifford, of North Middletown, eloped to Cincinnati and were married.

DEATHS.

Miss Daisy Smith aged 15, died on Saturday morning of consumption. The remains were interred in the Paris cemetery on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the service being conducted at the grave by Elder Lloyd Darsie.

Miss Maggie Rion died on Saturday at her home on High street. The funeral services were held from the residence at 4 o'clock on Sunday afternoon by Eld. J. S. Sweeney. Burial in the local cemetery.

Capt. Joseph Desha, a well-known Confederate soldier of the Kentucky Orphan Brigade, died of pneumonia, at his home in Cynthiana, on Thursday night. Capt. Ed. F. Spears, Dr. Chas. J. Clarke and W. H. Whaley attended the funeral on Saturday. Capt. Desha was a half brother of Mrs. Annie D. Lucas, of this city. He had returned a few days before from Dallas, Texas, where he had been attending the Confederate re-union.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Of Southern Methodist ministers 458 were educated at Vanderbilt.

The Y. M. C. A. at Lexington has $30,000 pledged for a new building.

Cumberland Presbyterian churches are planned for Danville, Lexington and Mt. Sterling.

The Rev. Dr. J. W. Moore will preach the baccalaureate sermon at Millersburg Female College, May 25.

The Rev. George O. Barnes, formerly a Kentucky evangelist, will be ordained an elder in Dowie's church. Mr. Barnes is seventy-five years of age.

Elder J. W. Harding, of Winchester, was 79 years old last Tuesday. He has married more complex, held more meetings, preached more sermons, received and baptised more persons into the church, and performed the last sad rites at the grave of a greater number of persons than any other minister in Central Kentucky.

The First House Cleaning.

"Eve," asked Adam one bright May morning in the year 2, "where are those best fig-leaf trousers of mine?"

"Where those your best?" inquired Eve. "I thought you did not want them any more, and gave them to a tramp monkey that happened along."

Inwardly rising Adam hid himself to the fig patch and tried to find a pattern that matched his coat and vest.

OVER 40,000 KILLED.

A Second Pompeii at St. Pierre, Island of Martinique.

Not More Than 20 Escaped With Their Lives—Eighteen Vessels Were Burned and Sunk With All on Board.

San Juan, P. R., May 8.—The cable officials here have received advices from the island of Martinique that a schooner which has arrived there from the island of Martinique reports that over 40,000 people are supposed to have perished during the volcanic disturbance in Martinique. The cable repair steamer Grappler, belonging to the West India and Panama Telegraph Co., of London, was lost with all hands during the eruption of Mount Pelee at St. Pierre, Martinique. The Grappler was one of the first ships to disappear.

Washington, May 10.—The following cablegram, has been received at the state department: "Pointe a Pitre, May 9, 1902.—Secretary of State, Washington: At 7 o'clock a. m. on the 8th instant a storm of steam, mud and fire enveloped the city and community. Not more than 20 persons escaped with their lives. Eighteen vessels were burned and sunk with all on board, including four American vessels and a steamer from Quebec named Roraima. The United States consul and family are reported among the victims. A war vessel has come to Guadeloupe for provisions and will leave at 5 to-morrow. (Signed) Ayme, Consul."

Paris, May 10.—The Colonial minister, M. DeCraus, received at 6 o'clock Friday evening two cable messages from the secretary general of the government of Martinique J. E. G. L. Hurie, sent respectively at 5 p. m. and 10:30 p. m. Thursday. The earlier cable reported that the wires were broken between Port De France and St. Pierre, but it was added in view of reports that the eruption of Mont Pelee had wiped out the town of St. Pierre. All the boats available at Port De France were dispatched to the assistance of the inhabitants of that place.

St. Thomas, D. W. I., May 12.—Advices received here from the island of Martinique Sunday say that boats arriving there report that many persons were drowned while crossing to Martinique from the island of Martinique, where some of the out parishes have been inundated. The eruption of Mont Pelee (Martinique) continues. The lava is progressing northward. The whole northern region is now a rocky waste, denuded of vegetation.

Reports from the island of St. Vincent say that up to the afternoon of Friday last over 200 deaths had occurred there owing to the volcanic outbreak in that island. Definite news, however, is lacking. Many estates were destroyed and steam and ashes were belched forth from 7 in the morning until 9:30 o'clock at night. The eruption is now invisible at Kingston. Huge dust clouds were blown eastward. Great distress prevails at St. Vincent, where there are many injured persons. It is believed that about 400 persons have lost their lives at St. Vincent. The majority of the corpses are still unburied.

The British mail steamer Solent has gone from Barbadoes to Martinique with supplies and doctors. From the island of Trinidad, the British Royal mail steamer Kennel has gone to Port De France. The British second-class cruiser Indefatigable is on her way from Trinidad to St. Vincent with stores and relief for the sufferers there. It is reported that Port De France (Martinique) is threatened. Great tension prevails everywhere throughout the West Indies.

Port De France, Island of Martinique, May 12.—Advices received here Sunday from the vicinity of St. Pierre (ten miles from here), contain further details of the terrible volcanic upheaval which resulted in the utter destruction of that town and the death of nearly all its inhabitants.

The crater of Mont Pelee has been wearing its "smoke cap" since May 3; but there was nothing until last Monday to indicate that there was the slightest danger. On that day a stream of boiling lava burst through the top of the crater and plunged into the valley of the river Blanche, overwhelming the Guerin sugar works and killing 23 work people and the son of the proprietor.

A commission was appointed by the governor to investigate the outbreak and it returned a reassuring report on Wednesday evening. But about 8 o'clock on Thursday morning a shower of fire rushed down on St. Pierre, and the coast from Le Carbet, which had a population of 6,000, to Le Precheur, which had a population of 4,000, burning up everything in its path. Throughout Thursday the heat in the vicinity of St. Pierre was so intense and the stream of flowing lava was so unrelenting that it was impossible to approach the town during the early part of the day. As evening approached the French cruiser Suchet, after a heroic battle with the heat, suffocation and sulphur fumes, succeeded in making a dash toward the shore, nearing the land close enough to enable her to take off 30 survivors of the disaster, all of whom were horribly burned and mutilated.

St. Pierre at that time was an absolute smoking waste, concealing 30,000 corpses, whose rapid decomposition necessitated, in some cases, instantly completing their cremation, which was only partially accomplished by the lava.

The inhabitants of Port De France were panic-stricken the morning of the disaster when the sky suddenly blackened until it was as dark as midnight. The sea shrank back 30 yards and hot rain began to fall, while gravel the size of walnuts poured down on the town. This lasted about 15 minutes. The 450 survivors who were brought here Saturday from the vicinity of St. Pierre by the French cable repair ship Bouyer Guertler came from the town of Le Precheur where, surrounded on all sides by flowing lava, they were nearly roasted to death and expected momentarily to be engulfed.

The work of relief is progressing here on the most extensive scale possible, but, in anticipation of disturbances, the treasury building and the warehouses are guarded by troops.

The latest reports received here showed that lava continues to pour down the slopes of the mountain, slowly engulfing the whole north side of the island, while fresh crevasses are continually opening.

Paris, May 12.—A dispatch received at the colonial office here Sunday from Port De France says there is no doubt that Gov. Mouttet and the commander of the troops at St. Pierre, Col. Jain, are dead. Other dispatches confirm the reports that the American and British consuls and their families perished.

ANOTHER DISASTER.

An Eruption Causes Heavy Loss of Life on St. Vincent.

Kingston, Island of St. Vincent, B. W. I., Saturday, May 10.—After numerous earthquakes, during the preceding fortnight, accompanied by subterranean noises in the direction of the Soufriere volcano on the north-west part of the island, a loud explosion from the crater occurred Monday last, and the water in the crater lake ascended in a stupendous cloud of steam and exploded heavily.

The noises grew louder continually until Wednesday morning, when the old crater, three miles in circumference, and the new crater, formed by the last eruption, belched smoke and stones, forcing the residents of Wallibou and Richmond valley, beneath the volcano, to flee to Chateau Belair for refuge.

The thunderous noises which were continually increasing were heard in neighboring islands 200 miles away.

At midday the craters ejected enormous columns of steamy vapor, rising majestically eight miles high and expanding into wonderful shapes, resembling enormous cauliflower, gigantic wheels and beautiful flower forms, all streaked up and down crosswise, with vivid flashes of lightning, awing the beholder and impressing the mind with fear. The mountain labored to rid itself of a mass of molten lava, which later flowed over in six streams, down the side of the volcano, and the greater noises following united in one continuous roar all evening, through the night to Thursday morning, accompanied with black rain, falling dust and favilla scoria, attended with midnight darkness all Wednesday, creating feelings of fear and anxious suspense.

On the morning of Friday there was a fresh eruption and ejections of fiery matter, more dust covering the island, in some places two feet deep.

The crater is still active as this dispatch is sent, and great loss of life is believed to have occurred.

The lava has destroyed several districts, with their live stock. People are fleeing to this town, streams are dried up and in many places a food and water famine is threatened. The government is feeding numbers of sufferers from the outbreak. Great physical changes have taken place in the neighborhood of the Soufriere.

Several districts have not yet been heard from, and the scene of the eruption is unapproachable. Every hour brings sadder news. The nurses and doctors are overworked.

Among the deaths are whole families whose corpses are, in several places, still lying unburied. The dead will be interred in trenches.

EARTHQUAKES AT UNALASKA.

Ground Covered With Fine Ashes From Some Volcano.

San Francisco, May 12.—The Alaska Commercial Co. has received from its agent at Unalaska, Aleutian islands, a letter dated April 10, giving information of volcanic disturbances in that portion.

The letter says: Unalaska has been shaken up by earthquakes lately and on several occasions the ground was covered with fine ashes from some volcano. Reports reach us from Unimak to the effect that with every westerly wind their village is covered with some kind of ashes, indicating that some western volcano is in action.

CUBAN FLAG HOISTED.

President-Elect Palma Arrives in Havana.

He Was Enthusiastically Received By the Populace—Will Be the Guest of Gen. Gomez Until Inauguration Day.

Havana, May 12.—Sunday morning a large Cuban flag was hoisted over Moro Castle here.

This was the signal that the steamer Julia, with President-elect Estrada Palma and his party on board, had been sighted, and cheers went up from the thousands who on the shore opposite Moro Castle had patiently awaited the Julia's arrival since daybreak. The crowd cheered for the new president and for the flag, which was hoisted over the famous fortress for the first time. It was a moment of exultation for the Cubans, and the fact that the stars and stripes floated from its customary flagstaff beside the Cuban flag over the castle did not lessen their enthusiasm.

As the flag rose the bands stationed along the water front played the Cuban national hymn, steamers saluted and church bells were rung.

There was continuous saluting as the Julia sailed between the rows of decorated tugs and barges and there were cheers from the crowded wharves. The several warships in the harbor were also decorated.

When he arrived at the wharf the president-elect was welcomed by Vice President Esteve in a brief speech. A pretty feature of the reception here was Senor Estrada Palma's welcome by 23 young Cuban women dressed in costumes representing the American republics. Senora Durlo, who represented Cuba, delivered an address and read a poem.

From the wharf the president-elect was escorted to the palace by members of the rural guard. Gov. Gen. Wood, his staff and the secretaries received Senor Palma at the palace. From here the president-elect proceeded to the municipal council building, where speeches were made by the mayor of Havana and Senor Zayas. The latter welcomed Senor Estrada Palma in behalf of the people of all classes and all political beliefs.

Replying, Senor Estrada Palma said that his reception was a gratifying experience, and, judging from what he had seen since his arrival in Cuba, the people were unanimous in support of the incoming government. This, he said, boded well for the republic.

Gen. Wood accompanied Senor Estrada Palma to the residence of Gen. Maxim Gomez, where the president-elect will reside until his inauguration, May 20.

AIRSHIP EXPLODED.

Senhor Auguste Severo and a Companion Were Killed.

Paris, May 12.—The airship belonging to Senhor Auguste Severo, the Brazilian aeronaut, made an ascension Monday morning. The airship exploded and two aeronauts who were on board were killed.

Senhor Severo's airship, called La Paix, had made two ascensions at the Vaugrassas Aerostatic park since May 4. Upon both occasions La Paix was held by a rope at the height of 40 metres. In this position the airship manoeuvred for a short time successfully.

La Paix was not unlike Santos-Dumont's airships in appearance, but it differed from them in many details. The gas capacity of La Paix was nearly four times greater than that of Santos-Dumont's balloon. It had three main propellers and two smaller ones used for steering and in ascending and descending. The two petroleum motors of La Paix were of 24 and 18 horse power respectively.

KILLED A FELLOW WORKMAN.

A Chef Horribly Butchered By a Fireman in a Hotel.

Bridgeport, Ct., May 12.—Lawrence Bressano, a fireman in the Atlantic hotel, crept into the meat room Sunday morning and split the skull of Michael Tornish, the chef, with a meat cleaver. He then took a large butcher knife and slashed the body, cutting off the nose and ears, gouging out the eyes and cutting strip after strip of flesh off the face of the victim. When the upper part of the body was unrecognizable Bressano jumped on it and danced from the head to the feet until the arrival of the police, who were attracted by the frenzied yells of the murderer. Bressano then turned his attention to his would-be capturers, and was not subdued until one policeman broke a club over his head, and another knocked him senseless to the ground with the brass buckle of a belt.

Bressano at police headquarters acknowledged the murder, and said he felt better for having committed it. It is believed that trouble over a woman led him to kill his fellow workman. He will be given a preliminary trial Monday.

RIOT AT A CIRCUS.

Troops Were Called Out to Quell the Disorder.

Beziers, France, May 12.—Barnum & Bailey's circus was the cause of a serious riot here Sunday afternoon. The crowd seeking admission to the performance was greater than the tent could accommodate, and those who were unable to enter began stoning the circus employees, five of whom were injured. One had his skull fractured and will probably die. The crowd numbered about 7,000. Several thousand persons forced their way to the arena. The police were powerless to check them. Troops were called out and restored order, finally driving the rioters away. The performance was concluded, but at its termination the tents were taken down and arrangements were made to start immediately for Carcassonne, the next place on the route.

After the operation he was removed to his home in Watertown and death had been expected for several days.

MAKING THE WEDDING GRAB.

When I was weeping.
In my pain I said:
"Woe of my life—would I were dead,
In silence sleeping.
Where troubles are no more, nor cares, nor tears.
Nor visionary hopes, nor fears
Like dark-night shadows all around us creeping—
Would I were dead!"

Woe death but sleep,
Small harm to wish into the grave to creep,
And no more weep;
But were death life,
Far truer life than that men live on earth;
Were death but birth
To life where cares, and tears, and toll, and strife

No longer are,
But which the Just alone
With other Just may share—
Could I still dare, Whose days so little justice yet have shown.
To seek an entrance through death's golden gate?

Nay! Rather for long season let me wait,
And with embroidery of love and prayer,
And holy deeds, and suffering, prepare
The wedding garment for the wedding feast.

That I be not the lowest or the least
In that great throng.
Nor behind the Royal Bridegroom's guests to greet

Whose voices sweet
Catch up the angelic song
And hark, hark, hark, without end repeat.

In reply he handed me a letter written on good note paper, but without an address. It ran as follows:

"Mr. Gideon Hayle returns thanks for kind inquiries, and begs to inform Mr. Fairfax that he is leaving England to day for Algiers."

"If he thinks he is going to bluff me with that sort of tale, he's very much mistaken," I said. "I happen to be aware of the fact that he left for Southampton by the nine o'clock train this morning. If I might hazard a guess as to where he was going, I should say that his destination is the Cape. But let him go where he will, I'll have him yet. In the meantime, send Williams to Charing Cross at once, Roberts to Victoria, and Dickson to St. Paul's. Furnish each with a description of the man they are to look after, be particular about the scar upon his left cheek, and if they see him tell them that they are not to lose sight of him, happen what may. Let them telegraph should they discover anything definite, and then go in pursuit. In any case I shall return from Southampton to-night, and shall call here at once."

Half an hour later I arrived at Waterloo, took my ticket and boarded the train for Southampton. When I reached the port I was met at the station by my representative, who informed me that he had seen nothing of the man I had described, although he had carefully looked for him.

"We'll try the various shipping offices first," I said. "I feel positively certain that he came down here by the nine o'clock train."

We drove from shipping office to shipping office, and made the most careful inquiries, but in every case without success. Once we thought we had discovered our man, only to find, after wasting a precious hour, that the clerk's description was altogether a wrong one, and that he resembled Hayle in no sort of way. We boarded the South African mail-boat, but he was not among her passengers; we overhauled the American liner, with an equally barren result. We paid cursory visits to the principal hotels, but could hear no tidings of him in any one of them. As a matter of fact, if the man had journeyed to Southampton, as I had every reason to suppose he had done, he must have disappeared into thin air when he got there. The whole affair was most bewildering, and I scarcely knew what to think of it. That the boots at the hotel had not been hoodwinking me I felt assured in my own mind. His anger against the man was too real to allow any doubt upon that point. At last, having exhausted all our resources, and not seeing what I could do further, I returned to my subordinate's lodgings, where it had been arranged that telegrams should be addressed to me. On my arrival there a yellow envelope was handed to me. I tore it open eagerly and withdrew the contents. It proved to be from Dickson, and had been sent off from Dover. I took my code-book from my pocket and translated the message upon the back of the telegraph form. It ran as follows:

"Man with triangular scar upon left cheek, brown bag and traveling rug, boarded train at Ilernie Hill, went through to Dover, and has booked to Paris. Am following him according to instructions."

"Then he slipped me after all," I cried. "He must have gone on to Waterloo, crossed to Cannon street, then on to London bridge. The cunning scoundrel! He must have made up his mind that the biggest bluff he could play upon me was to tell the truth, and by Jove! he was not very far wrong. However, those laugh best who laugh last, and though he has had a very fair innings so far, we will see whether he can beat me in the end. I'll get back to town now, run down to Bishopstowe to-morrow morning to report progress, and then be off to Paris after him on Monday."

At 8:45 that night I reached London. At the same moment Mr. Gideon Hayle was sitting down to a charming little dinner at the Cafe des Princes, and was smiling to himself as he thought of the success that had attended the trick he had played upon me.

CHAPTER VII.

When I reached the charming little Surrey village of Bishopstowe, I could see that it bore out Kitwater's description of it. A prettier little place could scarcely have been discovered, with its tree-shaded high road, its cluster of thatched cottages, its blacksmith's shop, rustic inn with the signboard on a high post before the door, and, last but not least, the quaint little church standing some hundred yards back from the main road, and approached from the lych-gate by an avenue of limes.

"Here," I said to myself, "is a place where a man might live to be 100, undisturbed by the rush and bustle of the great world."

That was my feeling then, but since I have come to know it better, and have been permitted an opportunity of seeing for myself something of the inner life of the hamlet, I have discovered that it is only the life of a great city, on a small scale. There is the same keen competition in trade, with the same jealousies and bickerings. However, on this peaceful Sunday morning it struck me as being delightful. There was an old-world quiet about it that was vastly soothing. The rooks cawed lazily in the elms before the church as if they knew it were Sunday morning and a day of rest. A dog lay extended in the middle of the road, basking in the sunshine, "a thing which he would not have dared to do on a weekday. Even the little stream that runs under the old stone bridge, which marks the center of the village, and then winds its tortuous course round the churchyard, through the Squire's park, and then down the valley on its way to the sea, seemed to flow somewhat more slowly than was its wont."

Peeling just in the humor for a little moralizing, I opened the lych-gate and entered the churchyard. The congregation were singing the last hymn, the Old Hundredth, if I remember rightly, and the sound of their united voices fitted perfectly into the whole scheme, giving it the one touch that was lacking. As I strolled along I glanced at the inscriptions on the various tombstones, and endeavored to derive from them some notion of the lives and characters of those whose memories they perpetuated.

"Sacred to the memory of Erasmus Gunning, 27 years schoolmaster of this parish. Born 24th of March, 1806, and rested from his labors on September the 19th, 1876." Seating myself on the low wall that surrounded the churchyard, I looked down upon the river, and, while so doing, reflected upon Erasmus Gunning. What had he been like, this knight of the ferrule, who for 27 years acted as pedagogue to this tiny hamlet? What good had he done in his world? Had he realized his life's ambition? Into many of the congregation now worshipping yonder he must have driven the three P's, possibly with the assistance of the faithful ferrule afore-said, yet how many of them gave a thought to his memory? In this case the assertion that he "rested from his labors" was a trifle ambiguous. Consigning poor Erasmus to oblivion, I continued my walk. Presently my eyes caught an inscription that made me halt again. It was dedicated to the "Loving Memory of William Kitwater, and Susan, his wife." I was still looking at it, when I heard a step on the gravel-path behind me, and turning round, I found myself standing face to face with Miss Kitwater. To use the conventional phrase, church had "come out," and the congregation was even now making its way down the broad avenue towards the high-road.

"How do you do, Mr. Fairfax?" said Miss Kitwater, giving me her hand as she spoke. "It is kind indeed of you to come down. I hope you have good news for us?"

"I am inclined to consider it good news myself," I said. "I hope you will think so too."

She did not question me further about it then, but, asking me to excuse her for a moment, stepped over the little plot of ground where her dear ones lay, and plucked some of the dead leaves from the flowers that grew upon it. To my thinking she was just what an honest English girl should be; straightforward and gentle, looking the whole world in the face with frank and honorable simplicity. When she had finished her labor of love, which only occupied her a few moments, she suggested that we should stroll on to her house.

"My uncle will be wondering what has become of me," she said, "and he will also be most anxious to see you."

"He does not accompany you to church, then?"

"No," she answered. "He is so conscious of his affliction that he cannot bear it to be remarked. He usually stays at home and walks up and down a path in the garden, brooding, I am afraid, over his treatment by Mr. Hayle. It goes to my heart to see him."

"And Mr. Codd?"

"Ah, poor little man, spends most of his time reading such works on archaeology as he can obtain. It is his one great study, and I am thankful he has such a hobby to distract his mind from his own trouble."

"Their coming to England must have made a great change in your life," I remarked.

"It has made a difference," she answered. "But one should not lead one's life exactly to please one's self. They were in sore distress, and I am thankful that they came to me, and that I had the power to help them."

"This set me thinking. She spoke gravely, and I knew that she meant what she said. But underlying it there was a suggestion that, for some reason or another, she had not been altogether favorably impressed by her visitors. Whether I was right in my suppositions I could not tell then, but I knew that I should in all probability be permitted a better opportunity of judging later on. We crossed the little bridge, and passed along the high road for upwards of a mile, until we found ourselves standing at the entrance to one of the prettiest little country residences it has ever been my lot to find. A drive, some 30 yards or so in length, led up to the house and was shaded by overhanging trees. The house itself was of two stories and was covered by creepers. The garden was scrupulously neat, and I fancied that I could detect its mistress's hand in it. Shady walks led from it in various directions, and at the end of one of these I could discern a tall, restless figure, pacing up and down."

"There is my uncle," said the girl, referring to the figure I have just described. "That is his sole occupation. He likes it because it is the only part of the garden in which he can move about without a guide. How empty and hard his life must seem to him now, Mr. Fairfax?"

"It must, indeed," I replied. "To my thinking blindness is one of the worst ills that can happen to a man. It must be particularly hard to one who has led such a vigorous life as your uncle has done."

I could almost have declared that she shuddered at my words. Did she know more about her uncle and his past life than she liked to think about? I remembered one or two expressions he had let fall in his excitement when he had been talking to me, and how I had commented upon them as being strange words to come from the lips of a missionary. I had often wondered whether the story he had told me about their life in China, and Hayle's connection with it, had been a true one. The tenaciousness with which a Chinaman clings to the religion of his forefathers is proverbial, and I could not remember having ever heard that a mandarin, or an official of high rank, had been converted to the Christian faith. Even if he had, it struck me as being highly improbable that he would have been the possessor of such princely treasure, and, even supposing that to be true, that he would, at his death, leave it to such a man as Kitwater. No, I fancied if we could only get at the truth of the story, we should find that it was a good deal more picturesque, not to use a harsher term, than we imagined. For a moment I had almost been tempted to believe that the stones were Hayle's property, and that these two men were conducting their crusade with the intention of robbing him of them. Yet, on maturer reflection, this did not fit in. There was the fact that they had certainly been mutilated as they described, and also their hatred of Hayle to be weighed in one balance, while Hayle's manifest fear of them could be set in the other.

"If I am not mistaken that is your step, Mr. Fairfax," said the blind man, stopping suddenly in his walk, and turning his sightless face in my direction. "It's wonderful how the loss of one's sight sharpens one's ears. I suppose you met Margaret on the road?"

"I met Miss Kitwater in the churchyard," I replied.

"A very good meeting place," he chuckled, sardonically. "It's where most of us meet each other sooner or later. Upon my word, I think the dead are luckier than the living. In any case they are more fortunate than poor devils like Codd and myself. But I am keeping you standing, won't you sit down somewhere and tell me your news? I have been almost counting the minutes for your arrival. I know you would not be here to-day unless you had something important to communicate to me. You have found Hayle?"

He asked the question with feverish eagerness, as if he hoped within a few hours to be clutching at the other's throat. I could see that his niece noticed it too, and that she recoiled a little from him in consequence. I thereupon set to work and told them of all that had happened since I had last seen them, described my lucky meeting with Hayle at Charing Cross, my chase after him across London, the trick he had played me at Foxwell's hotel, and my consequent fruitless journey to Southampton.

"And he managed to escape you after all," said Kitwater. "That man would outwit the master of all bars himself. He is out of England by this time, and we shall lose him."

"He has not escaped me," I replied, quietly. "I know where he is, and I have got a man on his track."

"Then where is he?" asked Kitwater. "If you know where he is, you ought to be with him yourself instead of down here. You are paid to conduct the case. How do you know that your man may not bungle it, and that we may not lose him again?"

His tone was so rude and his manner so aggressive, that his niece was about to protest. I made a sign to her, however, not to do so.

"I don't think you need be afraid, Mr. Kitwater," I said more soothingly than I felt. "My man is a very clever and reliable fellow, and you may be sure that, having once set eyes on Mr. Hayle, he will not lose sight of him again. I shall leave for Paris to-morrow morning, and shall immediately let you know the result of my search. Will that suit you?"

"It will suit me when I get hold of Hayle," he replied. "Until then I shall know no peace. Surely you must understand that?"

Then, imagining, perhaps, that he had gone too far, he began to fawn upon me, and what was worse praised my methods of elucidating a mystery. I cannot say which I disliked the more. Indeed, had it not been that I had promised Miss Kitwater to take up the case, and that I did not want to disappoint her, I believe I should have abandoned it there and then, out of sheer disgust. A little later our hostess proposed that we should adjourn to the house, as it was nearly lunch-time. We did so, and I was shown to a pretty bedroom to wash my hands. It was a charming apartment, redolent of the country, smelling of lavender, and, after London, as fresh as a glimpse of a new life. I looked about me, took in the cleanliness of everything, and contrasted it with my own dingy apartments at Rickford's hotel, where the view from the window was not of meadows and breezy uplands, but of red roofs, chimney-pots, and constantly revolving crows. I could picture the view from this window in the early morning, with the dew upon the grass, and the blackbirds whistling in the shrubbery. I am not a vain man, I think, but at this juncture I stood before the looking-glass and surveyed myself. For the first time in my life I could have wished that I had been better-looking. At last I turned angrily away.

THE MAN WHO WAS ROBBED.

A Fable with a Moral That Will Be Very Generally Coincided With.

A stranger in a strange land once fell in with thieves, who found him on a lonely road, beat him, robbed him, and then tied him to a tree.

After a long wait another traveler came by, and the stranger, in a weak voice, pleaded for help, says Judge.

He told the story of his wrongs, and the traveler said: "How sad!"

"I cried out, but my voice is not strong, and my cries were of no avail," said the victim.

"How unfortunate!" said the traveler.

"And the robbers tied me so fast I am utterly helpless."

"How interesting!"

"Interesting? Do you think it interesting to have been beaten and robbed? Why, the thieves took all my money except a small sum in my inside pocket."

"How careless!" commented the traveler.

Then, having satisfied himself that the stranger's story was true, that he was really tied securely, that his voice was weak, and that there was a small sum in an inside pocket, he secured the small sum and went on his way.

Moral—Hard-luck stories are seldom successful.

She Gained Papa's Consent. A pretty girl announced to papa her engagement to dear Cholly. The old man became very grave at once. Cholly had a good salary, was to all appearances a nice, steady young man, "but then," said papa, "let the engagement be a long one, my dear. In that case you will have time to find out each other's faults and failings, and discover serious defects of character which would make you wretched for life if you marry."

"But, papa," interposed the sweet girl, "I object to long engagements if they are so apt to be broken, don't you know?" And while the old man meditated she rushed off into the parlor to tell Cholly it was all right and resume the symphony business.—Louisville Times.

No Thoughts.

"The postman just brought me Aunt Jane's present," said the poet's wife. "What do you think of it?"

"I don't know," replied the poet, disturbed at work.

"But can't you think?"

"Gee whizz! How do you expect me to think now? I'm writing something for the magazines."—Philadelphia Press.

MALARIA IN HIS SYSTEM FOR YEARS.

LOUISVILLE, KY., March 26, 1902. GENTLEMEN: For several years I suffered with Chills and Fever, caused by Malaria in my system, and each summer for several years I would have a relapse. Finally my physician prescribed S. S. S. I took in all three bottles; this was about six years ago. It entirely cured me, and I have never been troubled since. I am sure no other medicine could have given me so complete and immediate relief, and I cannot speak too highly of S. S. S. My partner in business is now taking the S. S. S. for an eruption of the skin, and a general run down condition of the system, and although he has taken but one bottle, already commences to feel better. Yours truly, No. 913 W. Market St. I. SHAPOFF.

POISON OAK AND ITS EFFECTS.

DANVILLE, KY., April 5, 1902. GENTLEMEN: Over fifteen years ago I was poisoned with Poison Oak. I tried remedies after remedy without getting relief. Sores broke out over my body and on my tongue, affecting the lining of my mouth. Finally about a year ago my doctor told me to try S. S. S., which I did. After taking three bottles all the sores disappeared, and I have not been bothered since, and I feel much indebted to your valuable medicine for so prompt and complete a cure. I am certain that S. S. S. will do all that is claimed for it in blood diseases, if not more. Yours very truly, CON O'BRYAN.

"Something New Under The Sun."

All doctors have tried to cure CATARRH by the use of powders, acid gases, inhalers and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucous membranes causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the inhalers have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their markets have aimed to cure, while pastes and ointments cannot reach the disease. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and specialty of the treatment of CATARRH, has at last perfected a treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures CATARRH by removing the cause, stopping the discharges, and curing all inflammation. It is the only remedy known to science that actually reaches the afflicted parts. This wonderful remedy is known as "SNUFFLES" the GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE and is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, each package containing internal and external medicine sufficient for a full month's treatment and everything necessary to its perfect use.

"SNUFFLES" is the only perfect CATARRH CURE ever made and is now recognized as the only safe and is also wonderfully quick to relieve HAY FEVER or COLD in the HEAD.

CATARRH when neglected often leads to CONSUMPTION—"SNUFFLES" will save you if you use it at once. It is no ordinary remedy, but a complete treatment which is positively guaranteed to cure CATARRH in any form or stage if used according to the directions which accompany each package. Don't delay but send for it at once and write full particulars as to your condition and you will receive special advice from the discoverer of this wonderful remedy regarding your case without cost to you beyond the regular price of "SNUFFLES" the "GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE."

CLOSE CONFINEMENT IMPAIRED HIS HEALTH.

HOPKINSVILLE, KY., March 21, 1902. GENTLEMEN: For over four years ago I felt entirely run down, my business of cigar making being very confusing. I was quite unfit for work. One of our city druggists told me to use S. S. S., and I am glad to say that it made me feel like a different man. I only used it one month and have felt well ever since. I am sure there could be no better medicine on the market for toning up the system, by getting the blood in good condition. Yours truly, 701 W. 7th St. H. L. LEBKNECKER.

SYCOLOS, OR BARBER'S ITCH.

NEW ALBANY, IND., March 29, 1902. GENTLEMEN: For over ten years I suffered with Barber's Itch. I tried several medicines, took several kinds of baths, had medical advice, but nothing did me any good. I saw S. S. S. advertised and commenced using it. After taking two or three bottles, I noticed good results. After taking about six bottles in all, I was completely cured, and have not been troubled since. I recommend S. S. S. to any in need of a good blood tonic, and a sure cure for Barber's Itch. Yours truly, 807 W. Market St. W. H. STEPHENS, JR.

AN EXCELLENT TONIC AND SYSTEM BUILDER.

LEXINGTON, KY., April 5, 1902. GENTLEMEN: I have no hesitancy in recommending your S. S. S. as the best spring tonic on the market. I have used many other medicines, but find S. S. S. to be undoubtedly the only tonic that will properly build up the system. I shall take pleasure in telling all whom I think in need of a good blood tonic of your medicine. Yours truly, LEWIS S. FIEBER.

SCIATIC RHEUMATISM THE CAUSE OF INTENSE SUFFERING.

MT. STERLING, KY., April 9, 1902. GENTLEMEN: For over four years I suffered intensely with Sciatic Rheumatism. The Rheumatism first troubled me in my hip, then spread to my shoulders, head, and finally all over my body. I became such an invalid that neither my family nor friends thought it possible for me to survive long. I had tried so many prescriptions given me by physicians (which contained a great deal of opium), that my stomach was ruined, and there seemed no hope for recovery. I had been reading in the newspapers of S. S. S. and decided to try it, and to my joy commenced to get relief before the second bottle was gone. After completing five bottles I was an entirely different man, and I felt that I had a new lease on life. The cure in my case has been so wonderful that I shall tell every one of it. S. S. S. not only cured my Rheumatism, but also put my system generally in excellent condition. I have a good appetite, sleep well and once more enjoy life. Yours truly, R. M. FRISBIE.

BOILS WERE THE BANE OF HIS LIFE.

EVANSVILLE, IND., March 19, 1902. GENTLEMEN: About four years ago I suffered greatly from Boils, which would break out on different parts of my body, one large Boil coming just below the knee, from which I was incapacitated for work for two or three weeks. I saw S. S. S. advertised and decided to take it. After using about three bottles I was cured. When I first commenced to use S. S. S. it made the Boil on my leg run so that I was somewhat afraid, but it soon healed up, and for the last three years I have had no trouble whatever. I am therefore a great believer in your medicine, and am anxious that others should know what it has done for me. Yours very truly, 217 Read St. A. W. ZEBER.

Like a Drowning Man.

"Five years ago a disease the doctors called dyspepsia took such hold of me that I could scarcely go," writes Geo. S. Marsh, well-known attorney of Nocona, Tex. "I took quantities of pepin and other medicines but nothing helped me. As a drowning man grabs at a straw I grabbed at Kodol. I felt an improvement at once and after a few bottles an sound and well." Kodol is only preparation which exactly reproduces the natural digestive juices and consequently is the only one which digests any food feed and cures any form of stomach trouble.—W. T. Brooks.

Brain Food Nonsense.

Another ridiculous food fad has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscles, and still another for bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet however good your food may be, its nutrient is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aids digestion, stimulates the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at W. T. Brooks'. Truth never dodges up an alley, no matter whom it meets.

Dangerous If Neglected.

Burns, cuts and other wounds often fail to heal properly if neglected and become troublesome sores. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve prevents such consequences. Even where delay has aggravated the injury DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve effects a cure. "I had a running sore on my leg for thirty years," says H. C. Hartly, Yanketown, Ind. "After using many remedies, I tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. A few boxes healed the sore." Cures all skin diseases. Piles yield to it at once. Beware of counterfeits.—W. T. Brooks.

Good Advice.

The most miserable beings in the world are those suffering from Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint. More than 75 per cent. of the people in the United States are afflicted with these two diseases and their effects; such as Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Habitual Constipation, Palpitation of the Heart, Heart-burn, Water-brash, Gnaiving and Burning Pains at the Pit of the Stomach, Yellow Skin, Coated Tongue and Disagreeable Taste in the Mouth, Coming up of Food after Eating, Low Spirits, etc. Go to your Druggist and get a bottle of August Flower for 75 cents. Two doses will relieve you. Try it. Get Green's Special Almanac. W. T. Brooks.
